Thoughts for the Journey

Over 40 years ago I began my love affair with Joanne Fabrics. Do you remember that wonderful store? Often I would be looking for buttons and thread. Then my eyes and feet would wander. I just could not help myself. Down the aisles through the beautiful fabrics, the patterns, the yarn, the crochet hooks, ending up in the needlework aisles. Cross stitch, crewel work, embroidery kits. Everything I had learned from grandmother and mother. I enjoyed challenging myself with pattern, yarn or thread, and my own clumsy hands. I started to collect kits as they went on sale, completing some, and confident I would "one day" get to those stored. In some cases I did. But in most cases, I have yet to tear open the plastic and plan my strategy of completion. I am sharing this because having cleaned the basement at the parsonage I have yet to go through those craft bins. Decisions must be made! What is still viable? What to get rid of or keep? When will I ever have (or make) time to sit and put needle to canvas? There is one item in there that I am determined to complete before my hands stop working. It is a Crewel needlework picture of the Peaceable Kingdom.

You may have seen this in art, picture, or other forms of needle work. It is a scene of many animals gathered in an idyllic setting. In the middle of this picture is usually a lamb lying beside a lion. This scene is based on Isaiah 11:6. This verse is part of an Old Testament prophecy regarding the anticipated Israelite Messiah and what the world will look like once he arrives.

> "The wolf will live with the lamb, the leopard will lie > down with the goat,
> the calf and the lion and the yearling together;
> and a little child will lead them."

A peaceable kingdom will take the place of what is and return it to a space of community, respect and trust. There will be no one above another; all will occupy a place of rest, security and relationship.

I am planning on one day sitting down and completing this work of art. But if I cannot do that, my prayer is to continue to serve God in the humblest of ways for the generations to come who will see the wolf and lamb, the lion and the calf, the neighbor next door and the neighbor half way around the world be a living exhibit of the Kingdom to come.

Leaning into that future,
Pastor Laurie

Prayers in Pajamas . . . or Dressed for the Day

I would like to invite you, and anyone you care to invite, to join me on Thursdays at 7:00a.m. on Zoom for 30 minutes of Thoughts for the Day and a prayer to energize our lives and weave hope into the fabric of the world.

Every Thursday, wherever you might be - rising from bed, preparing for the day, eating breakfast, driving to work – let us come together for various thoughts, scripture and prayer to begin the day. My prayer is that out of this time together, we might be inspired in new and creative ways to meet the challenges of daily life and live into our faith more genuinely.
